
Extraction asymmetries: why the DP and the ν P domain are different

Carlo Cecchetto
University of Milan-Bicocca and SFL (CNRS & Université Paris 8)
carlo.cecchetto123@gmail.com

Caterina Donati
*Labex EFL/LLF
(CNRS & Université Paris 7)*
cdonati@linguist.univ-paris-diderot.fr

In this talk we extend Cecchetto and Donati's (2015) approach to successive-cyclic movement and strong islands to the following ν P/DP asymmetry, for which there is no account in minimalist theories which dispense with notions like ECP and the like: adjuncts can be extracted from the ν P domain but not from the DP domain.

References: • Cecchetto, C. & Donati, C. (2015): (Re)labeling, Linguistic Inquiry Monograph, Cambridge Ma: MIT Press.